Lift Every Voice and Sing

Lift every voice and sing,
Till earth and heaven ring,
Ring with the harmonies of Liberty;
Let our rejoicing rise
High as the list'ning skies,
Let it resound loud as the rolling sea.
Sing a song full of the faith that the dark past has taught us, Sing a song full of the hope that the present has brought us; Facing the rising sun of our new day begun, Let us march on till victory is won.

Stony the road we trod,
Bitter the chast'ning rod,
Felt in the days when hope unborn had died;
Yet with a steady beat,
Have not our weary feet
Come to the place for which our fathers sighed?
We have come over a way that with tears has been watered.

We have come, treading our path through the blood of the slaughtered,
Out from the gloomy past,
Till now we stand at last
Where the white gleam of our bright star is cast.

God of our weary years,
God of our silent tears,
Thou who hast brought us thus far on the way;
Thou who hast by Thy might,
Led us into the light,
Keep us forever in the path, we pray.
Lest our feet stray from the places, our God, where we met
Thee,
Lest our hearts, drunk with the wine of the world, we forget
Thee;
Shadowed beneath Thy hand,
May we forever stand,
True to our God, True to our native land.

THINK UNLIMITED! THINK UNLIMITED! THINK UNLIMITED!

Dr. Oba T'Shaka

Dr. T'Shaka is a warrior scholar, renowned public speaker, professor, workshop leader, author, leader, organizer and visionary of exceptional influence who addresses audiences in the United States, Britain, France, Rotterdam and Africa. For 38 years Dr. T'Shaka was a Professor at San Francisco State University, where he is now Professor Emeritus. Dr. Nathan Hare says, "Oba T'Shaka (is) one of the key social philosophers in the Afro-American race today." The late Dr. Asa Hilliard, a great educator and scholar said of Dr. Oba T'Shaka, "he is one of the most powerful deep thinkers in the world today. When my family and I arrived in San Francisco in 1963, Oba T'Shaka was a young powerful leader in the middle of the civil rights struggle. Since that time he has been totally consistent as an uncompromising truth seeker, visionary, organizer and leader in African liberation in the United States and on the African continent. He has published newspapers. He has led organizations. He has been and is a courageous activist." Dr. Oba T'Shaka is an organic scholar whose scholarship emerged out of the Black Liberation movement. In the course of organizing T'Shaka (then Bill Bradley) underwent an awakening that led him to realize that his mind was under remote control. This led him to undergo a process of re-education under masters, a process that continues to this day. This lifelong process of re-education would transform T'Shaka into an Scholar/Warrior. The lessons learned through study would guide his organizing, and the lessons learned from battles for Black liberation would shape his study and writings. The complexities of the struggles that T'Shaka led would direct his studies and shape his thought. The central aim of T'Shaka's organizing and writing is to contribute to the development of just societies in the U.S., Africa and throughout the world, based upon the most just feature of African and African American cultures. In the course of his organizing

Dr. T'Shaka then known as Bill Bradley while leading the San Francisco Freedom Movement collaborated with Malcolm X, and Martin Luther King around movement strategies. He worked with the Deacons For Self Defense, working with them in Louisiana in 1965, and with their West Coast representative Chilly Willy. Dr. T'Shaka marched with Dr. King in Selma Alabama in 1965, serving as a March leader in the Selma to Montgomery march. In 1995 T'Shaka addressed The Million Man March speaking to 950,000 Black men and providing follow-up strategy for the March. Dr. Phillip McGee former Dean of the College of Ethnic Studies at San Francisco State University observed that Dr. Oba T'Shaka's scholarship has been "field tested." Dr. T'Shaka's writings are half paradigm shaping and half application or practice. T'Shaka's writings cover areas of knowledge that he has internalized and lives, and the practice that he has mastered. Oba T'Shaka is the author of five books, each of which grows out of years of study and organizational practice. Dr. T'Shaka is a rare blend of a Master Scholar, Master Warrior, and charismatic speaker, who's many years of organizing and scholarship, has provided a rich body of experience for writing, teaching and public speaking.
